The China Pakistan Economic Corridor (CPEC) is gradually unfolding although much of the project is still shrouded in uncertainty. There is lack of transparency regarding finer details of funding structure of the various projects therein. While a section of the mainstream media in Pakistan is animatedly debating the lack of clarity on CPEC details, there seems to be a concerted effort from Pakistan to malign India as one that is persistently trying to sabotage the project through subversive activities. Lately, a number of arrests have been made in Gilgit Baltistan as is evident in the reports included in the current issue. What Pakistan has been doing is to link all these arrests to Indian intelligence agencies whom it alleges is doing so to target CPEC. Such allegations from Pakistan are unfounded and unwarranted. It is Pakistan which for decades has pursued subversive activities against India to fulfil its nefarious strategic interests.

India has expressed its objections on CPEC based on its standing claim on Pakistan occupied Kashmir (PoK). The connectivity corridor between China's Kashgar and Pakistan's Gwadar Port is connected by Gilgit Baltistan that forms the only land link between the two countries. Part of PoK, Gilgit Baltistan has been under Pakistan's illegitimate control since 1947. Therefore, the status of an economic corridor built jointly by China and Pakistan via PoK is as disputed as is Pakistan's control on the region. It is rather intriguing as to how and why the Chinese have overlooked the contested status of PoK while investing billions in the CPEC project. As per Article 6 of the Sino-Pak Border Agreement 1963, the status of Gilgit Baltistan will be re-opened for negotiations during the final resolution of Kashmir issue. Accordingly, investing fortunes in a territory that is inextricably attached to the Kashmir issue and whose status is contingent upon future negotiations (as per China and Pakistan's own admission) reflects dual standards exercised by the two countries in blatant disregard of India's claim over PoK.

“PM to visit Gilgit, weather permitting”

The Express Tribune, February 6, 2017

Prime Minister Nawaz Sharif is scheduled to visit Gilgit on February 6 just days after some ‘RAW-linked’ suspects were arrested in an attempt to counter a negative campaign against the mega project. The visit is subject to weather conditions. Bad weather in the area has largely disrupted flight operations between Gilgit and Islamabad, officials noted. Conspicuously, the visit is taking place just as security agencies accelerated their drive in the region to net alleged anti-state elements who are collaborating with India’s intelligence agency, RAW, to halt CPEC. During his visit, the PM is expected to make a strong pro-CPEC public statement, insiders noted. The prime minister is also likely to address the G-B Council and announce development packages. The premier is also expected to announce some relief for local residents from prolonged power outages. Chinese authorities, sources maintained, were concerned about the negative campaign against the project. The prime minister’s visit would lend weight to CPEC, allaying concerns of the Chinese leadership, sources stated. “There is an element active there (in G-B in a bid) to stir public outrage against projects of national and regional importance, including CPEC. “Security agencies are taking operational steps against anti-state elements and (this is why the) political leadership is stepping in for countering potential hostility against CPEC,” a well-placed government functionary noted.

Financial Times, February 13, 2017

Any changes in the status of Gilgit-Baltistan (GB) would be detrimental to Pakistan's claim on Kashmir and would never be acceptable to the Kashmiri people, former Prime Minister of Pakistan occupied Kashmir Sardar Attique Ahmed Khan stated. “Kashmiris living on either side of the Line of Control (LoC) as well as in Ladakh, Aksai Chin and Gilgit-Baltistan are party to the Kashmir issue along with Pakistan and India,” Khan was quoted as saying. Gilgit-Baltistan formed a part of undivided Jammu and Kashmir till 1947 when Pakistan militarily occupied the region along with Muzaffarabad and other parts of the state now known as “Azad Jammu and Kashmir”. The Pakistan government is planning to annex Gilgit-Baltistan into Pakistan as its fifth province. Khan asserted that the Kashmiri people were the “custodian of the freedom struggle and they would never allow anyone to surrender Kashmir to India”. ### “LEAs go after nationalists, ‘separatists’ in GB”

Pakistan Today, February 15, 2017

Though the situation is different in Gilgit-Baltistan as compared to Balochistan, the law enforcement agencies have started a massive crackdown against activists of nationalist parties and suspected separatists, as the security agencies smell India’s ‘involvement’ to foil China-Pakistan Economic Corridor (CPEC). The Gilgit Baltistan police, with the help of other agencies, have arrested over a dozen leaders and activists of the Balawaristan National Front (BNF) and recovered weapons and literature from their possession during the crackdown in district Ghizar and others parts of the region. Last week, the police had arrested at least 12 members of the BNF on charges of anti-state activities. The nationalist party, according to police, was formed in 1995 by a nationalist Abdul Hamid, who is presently in Belgium from where he is allegedly running the network in Pakistan and other parts of the world. According to Inspector General Police of GB, Zafar Iqbal Awan, the arrested activists of the nationalist party were trying to promote an anti-national ideology and had played into the hands of foreign agencies. Police claim that the stated nationalist party, being operated from outside the country, was getting funds from RAW to sabotage the multibillion dollar project of CPEC, and creating unrest in the area. The IGP during a recent press briefing in Gilgit has also claimed that the law enforcers have uncovered Rs300 million money trails of the party and their usage for purchase of weapons and properties.

Mehwish Iqrar, “Gilgit-Baltistan and CPEC”

Daily Times, February 15, 2017

Gilgit-Baltistan is a disputed region with an ambivalent constitutional status. Fortunately, in 2014 the Chinese government pledged US $ 46 billion towards various projects aimed at catalysing infrastructural development in Pakistan. It was perceived that this project will develop all areas of Pakistan uniformly but the reality is quite the opposite. The name of this region is seldom mentioned in the statements of government functionaries regarding CPEC. The only economic zone proposed for Gilgit-Baltistan was upgrading of Karakoram Highway and eight other projects but all are confined to paper works. The governor of Gilgit spoke sporadically, about injustices but the federal government has turned blind eye to this region. A few months ago, the new projects were proposed for Balochistan and Sindh but not a single for Gilgit. It is alarming that the division of Gilgit along with other areas excluded from the benefits of this project. The people of Gilgit joined Pakistan to become Pakistani and enjoy equal rights and privileges of Pakistan with equal representation in the Parliament but still there is no constitutional status. The federal government should redress the grievances of its natives. If this project generated controversies and sense of neglect, it would surely cause collapse of this golden opportunity for Pakistan.

“Restructuring legal framework: ‘1974 Act stabbed the rights of Kashmiri people’”

The Express Tribune, February 16, 2017

A constitutional reforms committee, led by a federal minister, has been formed to formulate amendments to replace the 1974 Act of Azad Jammu and Kashmir (AJK). This was stated by AJK Prime Minister Raja Farooq Haider Khan on February 15. Addressing a news conference at the PWD Rest House in Mirpur, Haider stated that the amendments would lead to major reforms in the valley. “The people of AJK were denied their legitimate rights through this interim constitution,” the AJK premier observed while flanked by several members of his cabinet including Sports and Culture Minister Muhammad Saeed, Senior minister Tariq Farooq, MLA Rukhsar Ahmed and members of local political parties. Calling the 1974 act a “gift” from Zulfikar Ali Bhutto, Haider noted that formulating the amendments was the top priority for his government. “It (amendments) would strengthen the Kashmir freedom struggle, expedite the progress of AJK through self-reliance of local resources and address of local issues in minimum possible time,” he added. To a question, Haider assured that his government was on the same page as the Pakistan Muslim League-Nawaz-led government of Pakistan. He disclosed that a constitutional reforms committee headed by a federal minister had been constituted to bring about the amendments in Act 1974, the interim constitution of the AJK State.

Shabbir Mir, “Recover Rs8m misappropriated by former CM”

The Express Tribune, February 17, 2017

The Public Accounts Committee (PAC) in Gilgit-Baltistan recommended that the government recover Rs8 million from the region’s former chief minister Mehdi Shah. The funds had allegedly been misappropriated during this tenure. The recommendations came during a meeting of the PAC’s sub-committee, chaired by lawmaker Muhammad Shafi, in Gilgit on February 16. “The meeting reviewed finances for the year 2011-12 and found irregularities,” an insider aware of the deliberations in the meeting noted. “The committee may look into the remaining tenure Shah spent as chief minister.” Shah had been sworn in as chief minister in 2010 for five years. His tenure ended in December 2015. He allegedly spent the money on building extra accommodation for himself in Islamabad and Skardu. “The former chief minister had an office in Gilgit and Islamabad,” stated an insider. “But he charged for his house in Skardu besides hiring another house in a posh area of Islamabad even though he was using rooms in the G-B House.” Shah, who was a resident of Skardu, had declared his house as sub-office and reportedly received a handsome amount from the government coffers as rent. Later, while speaking to reporters after the committee’s meeting, Shafi noted they were deliberating means to recover the money.

Dawn, February 18, 2017

Given the fresh spate of terrorist attacks across the country, government officials in Azad Jammu and Kashmir (AJK) and Gilgit-Baltistan (GB) have suggested enforcement of the toughest administrative measures to nip the menace in the bud. A joint meeting of police and administration officials of Muzaffarabad division, presided over by Inspector General of Police Bashir Ahmed Memon, discussed the security situation in AJK on February 17. ### “The ball’s in India’s court”: an interview with President Azad Jammu and Kashmir, Sardar Masood Khan

Pakistan Today, February 19, 2017

The ball is in the India’s court. Pakistan is ready to commit itself with India for quite some time. You talk about the “peace process”, but before the peace process resumes, you have to start by having contacts, by having a form of dialogue. The bilateral discussions do not work; they don’t produce anything tangible since decades. As long as India is reluctant to engage in Kashmir, we have no other option but to turn to the international community and the United Nations. The Security Council should hold a debate on the situation. Its members cannot remain silent; they have to return to their own resolutions. If they care about peace and security, they have a responsibility to be proactive. They cannot simply say that the problem should be solved by India and Pakistan; especially when a crisis, like the one we have been experiencing for the past six months, has broken out. This matter is about the right of peoples to self-determination. Pakistan fights terrorism under all its forms. The action against Hafez Saeed has been taken in conformation with the constitutional law and in the framework of the engagement of Pakistan in regards to the international community. If India would have been sincere, it would have restarted the dialogue with Pakistan on Kashmir.

“Measure Taken against JuD”

Daily Mahasib, February 1, 2017

Interior Minister Choudry Nisar stated that measures taken against JuD are under UN resolution. He also stated that this organisation was under scrutiny since 2010-11. He further noted that JuD was also under the UN Watch List. According to Nisar, the state has to take steps against these organisations and that is why few measures are taken against JuD. These statements of Nisar came after Hafiz Saeed was put under house arrest. The UN passed this resolution under the pressure from US and India. JuD is under attack from the romance between India and America. Hafiz Saeed is highly regarded personality. He is one of the tallest religious figures in the country. His organisation has helped people at the times of difficulties. If this organisation was working against state laws then why it took so much time to take action against JuD. Fact is that it is a demand from the US that compelled Pakistan to put Hafiz Saeed under house arrest. America is threatening Pakistan that it would be included among the list of terrorist sponsoring states. As a result, Pakistani citizens cannot travel to the US. It was after this warning that Pakistan put Hafiz Saeed under house arrest. The US have not left any stone unturned in accusing and discrediting Pakistan. If Pakistanis are not allowed to enter America, heavens will not fall. The state should stand up on its feet and then take measure on its own but not bow to external pressure. It should never come under pressure from America and India.

“No Relations with Kashmir, and they should not become an irritant : Raja Jhanzaib”

Daily K2, February 3, 2017

Legislative Assembly member of GB, Raja Jhanzaib stated that Gilgit-Balistan has no relations with Kashmir and they should stop creating hurdles in Gilgit Baltistan’s constitutional status. He further stated that the so called Kashmiri leaders are not honest and had they been Kashmir conflict would have been resolved long back. Fact is that these leaders don not want to see the conflict resolved. What they want is to do politics in the name of Kashmir cause. Kashmiri leaders cannot stand the allegiance and loyalty Gilgit Baltistan shares with Pakistan. That is why they are against making Gilgit Baltistan a province. By forcefully linking Gilgit Baltistan with Kashmir and not providing constitutional rights is sheer injustice. Such sentiments were shared by Raja Jhanzaib in an interview with the KNS.

“Peace with Stick is not Sustainable”

Baad-e-Shimal, February 13, 2017

Chief Minister Gilgit-Baltistan Hafeezur Rehman stated that his government succeeded in bringing peace to the region. According to Hafeez, 75 percent of that was possible by using force and rest of 25 percent with by using other means. This is fact that peace has been maintained in Gilgit Baltistan and people are feeling relieved. It seems old Gilgit-Baltistan has returned. But there is an issue with it. It is easy to bring peace than to actually maintain it. According to the Chief Minister, harmony maintained through stick is not sustainable. Lack of harmony is the real cause of unrest in Gilgit-Baltistan. Law and order has been maintained but there is still much to do. There is need to bring harmony between sects, on languages and on ethnic differences. In past, these differences were exploited everywhere. People were pitched against each other. It is also a fact that earlier, steps were never taken to address the issues Gilgit Baltistan was facing. Gilgit Baltistan can prosper if there is sustainable peace in the region.

According to Amjid, when people of the region demand their rights, rulers link them with the Kashmir issue. Rulers do not want CPEC to succeed by repeatedly saying Gilgit Baltistan is a dispute. Criticizing government, Advocate stated that Hafeez led government is using nationalism and sectarian tools to weaken the Peoples Party.
