On the cover

Pakistan Air Force JF-17 fighter aircraft ahead of Pakistan's Day parade in March 2022. Pakistan is one of China's biggest export customers but, with programmes winding down and reports of equipment failures, Beijing may struggle to maintain its export momentum. This month JDIR examines the trends.

64 AMERICAN SEA POWER PROJECT: PLANNING MUST BE A MIXTURE OF ART & SCIENCE

By Rear Admiral Patrick Piercey, USN (Ret.)
Success in a future peer-level fight will depend on understanding commander's intent and the art of warfare.

72 MODERN CUTTERS FOR INDOPACOM PARTNERS IS A WIN-WIN OPPORTUNITY

By Lieutenant Tai T. Chan, USCG
Transferring older vessels of the classes the U.S. Coast Guard is actively fielding would improve deterrence and interoperability with regional allies.

76 REDESIGN THE SWO JUNIOR OFFICER PIPELINE

By Lieutenant Nathan Sicheri, USN
Revamping the JO training pipeline could increase surface warfare officer retention and expertise.

ABOUT THE COVER

Sailors and officers assigned to the Zumwalt-class guided-missile destroyer USS Zumwalt (DDG-1000) participate in a simulated straits transit during the Bridge Resource Management (BRM) course at the Navigation, Seamanship, and Shiphandling Trainer, on Naval Base San Diego. BRM is a 40-hour course that trains ships' navigation teams. (U.S. Navy/Kevin C. Leitner)

The U.S. Naval Institute is a private, self-supporting, not-for-profit professional society that publishes Proceedings as part of the open forum it maintains for the Sea Services. The Naval Institute is not an agency of the U.S. government; the opinions expressed in these pages are the personal views of the authors.

One Year Later

- 7 Ukraine's Strategy of Attrition Franz-Stefan Gady and Michael Kofman
Advanced Western weapons have not allowed Ukraine to escape sustained attritional combat, and attrition will likely remain a key element of Ukraine's strategy even with increased combined-arms training.

Commentary

- 23 How the War Has Changed Russia Nigel Gould-Davies
The regime now seeks not to demobilise the population from politics but to mobilise it behind the war, demanding even more of its people while offering steadily less.
- 27 Enforcing Russia's Debt to Ukraine: Constraints and Creativity Maria Shagina
The current legal framework for confiscation is unsuited to the Russia–Ukraine war, but there is an urgent moral as well as political need to push the legal boundaries to holding Russia accountable.
- 37 Zeitenwende One Year On Bastian Giegerich and Ben Schreer
While Germany is ending its dependence on Russian energy, its residual ambivalence on Russia has precluded it from taking a firm position on security guarantees for Ukraine.
- 43 Asia's Ukraine Problem Lynn Kuok
The United States may need to relax its characterisation of great-power competition as an ideological battle between democracies and autocracies or risk ceding strategic space to China in the Asia-Pacific.

- 52 Noteworthy

A New Atlanticism

- 55 About European Sovereignty Pierre Buhler
True sovereignty would change the EU's nature too radically for any contemporary European state to accept; it is fidelity to the values of freedom, democracy and the rule of law that affords the EU cohesion.

On the cover

US President Joe Biden visits Ukrainian President Volodymyr Zelenskyy in Kyiv on 20 February 2023.

Survival editors' blog

For ideas and commentary from Survival editors and contributors, visit www.iiss.org/blogs/survival-blog.

- 75 The Energy Transition, Protectionism and Transatlantic Relations Nicholas Crawford
While the US Inflation Reduction Act promoting the transition to green energy flouts international trade law, it is unlikely to severely harm the United States' relationship with the EU or its internationalist approach in other areas.
- 103 Truman Redux? Biden's National Security Strategy Aaron Ettinger
Despite President Joe Biden's statement that the United States 'cannot pretend the world can simply be restored to the way it was 75, 30, or even four years ago', US foreign policy is still rooted in received wisdom.

After Arms Control

- 123 The US and South Korea: The Trouble with Nuclear Assurance Adam Mount
Urgent demands for nuclear assurance represent the failure of an alliance to perform its central function: maintaining a credible combined deterrence posture.
- 141 Assessing Proliferation Risks in the Middle East Aya Kamil, Zuha Noor and Daniel Serwer
A nuclear regatta in the Middle East could make the region's current security problems, severe as they are, seem minor; prevention based on careful analysis is the best way forward.

Review Essay

- 165 Reading Clausewitz: On War for 21st-century Practitioners James S. Powell
Extolling On War's enduring relevance, Powell notes in particular that 'friction', as famously conceived by Carl von Clausewitz, persists, and that to manage it commanders take their cue from him.

Book Reviews

- 191 Middle East Ray Takeyh
198 United States David C. Unger
205 Environment and Resources Jeffrey Mazo

Closing Argument

- 213 Historical Imagination and the Unspoken Assumptions of Our Age Benjamin Rhode
The study of history can alert us to the strangeness of mindsets in our present, not just in our past.
